What is really important for human health? The latest research.

1. The gut is first created in the mother's body when a person is born. It is the most important organ that protects our health. The gut is an important organ in keeping all the other organs of the body healthy and working well.
2. The possibility that red blood cells are produced in the gut cannot be ruled out.
3. Approximately 70% of human immune cells collect and reside in the gut.
4. About 80% of reactive oxygen species in the body, which cause all kinds of diseases, are generated due to a deteriorated intestinal environment and an increase in bad bacteria. Reactive oxygen species are the main causative agents of atherosclerosis, heart disease, high blood pressure, diabetes, dementia, etc.
5. In psychosomatic medicine, i.e. medicine that explores the intimate relationship between mind and body, the gut is known to be deeply involved. When the intestinal environment deteriorates, the mind becomes restless; when the intestinal environment improves, the mind becomes stable and sleeps peacefully.
6. Continued taking of antibiotics, repeated administration of anti-cancer drugs and radiotherapy can lead to the death of all healthy bacteria (good bacteria) in the gut and a critical decline in immunity. Anti-viral vaccines have a similar effect, killing intestinal bacteria and worsening the intestinal environment, accelerating hair loss and ageing, and undeniably causing various health problems and diseases.

Gut health and active oxygen reduction has the key for our health

VITARAISER also contains abundant hydrogen, which has the smallest molecular structure in the universe, reaches every corner of the body and is excellent for powerfully removing active oxygen in the body. Unlike hydrogen made from mineral or animal calcium, which is generally available on the market, the hydrogen in Vita Razor is produced from healthy plant-based omega-3 egoma oil, and after reducing and detoxifying the active oxygen in the body, it is quickly excreted from the body without leaving any residual substances in the body. Hydrogen is the smallest antioxidant in the universe, so it can reach even the smallest corners of the brain's capillaries and excels in quickly eliminating active oxygen species that interfere with brain health. VITARAISER is also rich in niacinamide, which is an anti-ageing agent that helps the intestines to produce NMN, which activates the sirtuin gene, known to rejuvenate cells in the body.
